The Youth Book David Barnard,1997 The object of this publication is to provide youth as well as people and organizations involved and interested in youth related issues with a comprehensive source of information on South African young organizations and related relevant issues

An Illustrated Guide to Some Common Diatom Species from South Africa Jonathan Charles Taylor,William Russell Harding,C. G. M. Archibald,2007

Contemporary Migration to South Africa Aurelia Segatti,2011-08-23 Building on global interest in migration development the volume draws attention to one of the most important migration systems in sub Saharan Africa It reviews South Africa s approach to international migration in the post apartheid period from a regional development perspective highlighting key policy issues debates and consequences The authors find at least three areas where migration is resulting in important development impacts First by offering options to those affected by conflict and crises in a region that has limited formal disaster management and social protection systems Second by mitigating shortcomings and distortions in regional labour markets Third by providing support to struggling rural economies and ever expanding urban areas in terms of livelihoods and social capital transfers Chapter One consists of a study of the country s historical experience of migration and in particular analyses the changes in official attitudes throughout the twentieth century indicating the roots of contemporary ideas and policy dilemmas Chapters Two Three Four and Five complement this analysis of the South African State s capacity to reform and manage the South African migration situation by looking at often neglected dimensions the first explores the question of skilled labour a crucial question given the unbalanced structure of the South African labour market the second examines the impact of migration on local government in South African cities and specifically implications for urban planning service delivery health security and political accountability the third analyses the nature of undocumented migration to South Africa and the challenges it raises to both State and non State actors The book concludes with an examination of health as a critical issue when examining the relationship between migration and development in South Africa in light of recent empirical data

Higher Education Pathways Paul Ashwin,M. Case,2018-12-13 In what ways does access to undergraduate education have a transformative impact on people and societies What conditions are required for this impact to occur What are the pathways from an undergraduate education to the public good including inclusive economic development These questions have particular resonance in the South African higher education context which is attempting to tackle the challenges of widening access and improving completion rates in in a system in which the segregations of the apartheid years are still apparent Higher education is recognised in core legislation as having a distinctive and crucial role in building post apartheid society Undergraduate education is seen as central to addressing skills shortages in South Africa It is also seen to yield significant social returns including a consistent positive impact on societal institutions and the development of a range of capabilities that have public as well as private benefits This book offers comprehensive contemporary evidence that allows for a fresh engagement with these pressing issues

The Fiscal Dimension of HIV/AIDS in Botswana, South Africa, Swaziland, and Uganda Elizabeth Lule, Markus Haacker, 2011-11-17 HIV AIDS continues to take a tremendous toll on the populations of many countries especially in sub Saharan Africa In some countries with high HIV prevalence rates life expectancy has declined by more than a decade and in a few cases by more than two decades Even in countries with HIV prevalence of around 5 percent close to the average for sub Saharan Africa the epidemic can reverse gains in life expectancy and other health outcomes achieved over one or two decades This volume highlights work conducted under the umbrella of a World Bank work program on The Fiscal Dimension of HIV AIDS including country studies on Botswana South Africa Swaziland and Uganda It covers four aspects of the fiscal dimensions of HIV AIDS First it aims for a comprehensive analysis of the fiscal costs of HIV AIDS with a wider scope than a costing analysis focusing on only the policy response to HIV AIDS Second it embeds the analysis of HIV AIDS costs in a discussion of the fiscal context and interprets these costs as a quasi liability not a debt de jure but a political and fiscal commitment that binds fiscal resources in the future and cannot easily be changed and very similar to a pension obligation or certain social grants or services Third it develops tools to assess the fiscal dimensions of trade offs between HIV AIDS policies and measures that take into account the persistence of these spending commitments Fourth most of the fiscal costs of HIV AIDS are ultimately caused by new infections and this study estimates the fiscal resources committed or saved by an additional or prevented HIV infection Building on these estimates the analysis here is able to assess the evolving fiscal burden of HIV AIDS over time

Becoming a teacher Josef de Beer, 2020-12-31 This book disseminates original research on learning in and from practice in pre service teacher education Authors such as Lederman and Lederman describe the student teaching practicum or work integrated learning WIL which is an essential component of pre service teacher education as the elephant in the room These authors note that the capstone experience in any teacher education programme is the student teaching practicum after all this is where the rubber hits the road However many teacher educators will agree that this WIL component is sometimes very insufficient in assisting the student teacher to develop their own footing and voice as a teacher This is the gap that this research book addresses Most of the chapters in the book report empirical data with the exception of two chapters that can be categorized as systematic reviews WIL is addressed from various angles in the chapters Chapter 6 focuses on research related to what makes Finnish teacher education so effective and in Chapter 4 researchers of the University of Johannesburg disseminate their findings on establishing a teaching school based on Finnish insights in Johannesburg Chapter 3 highlights the challenges faced in open and distance learning teacher education contexts Several of the chapters disseminate research findings on alternative interventions to classic WIL namely where safe spaces or laboratories are created for student teachers to learn and grow professionally These could either be simulations such as software programmes and avatars in the intervention described in Chapter 2 student excursions as the findings in chapters 5 7 and 10 portray or alternative approaches to WIL e.g Chapters 11 and 12 The book is devoted to scholarship in the field of pre service teacher education The target audience is scholars working in the fields of pre service teacher education work integrated learning and self directed learning The book makes a unique contribution in terms of firstly its extensive use of Cultural Historical Activity Theory as a research lens and secondly in drawing on various theoretical frameworks Both quantitative and qualitative research informed the findings of the book

Past Climate Variability through Europe and Africa Richard W. Battarbee, Françoise Gasse, Catherine E.

Stickley, 2007-11-06 This book focuses on two complementary time scales the Holocene approximately the last 11 500 years and the last glacial interglacial cycle approximately the last 130 000 years to synthesize evidence of climate variability at the regional and continental scale across Europe and Africa This is the first examination of historical climate variations at such a scale and thus sets a benchmark for future research

Learning Democracy in School and Society: Education, Lifelong Learning, and the Politics of Citizenship Gert J.J. Biesta, 2011-10-21 This book explores the relationships between education lifelong learning and democratic citizenship It emphasises the importance of the democratic quality of the processes and practices that make up the everyday lives of children young people and adults for their ongoing formation as democratic citizens The book combines theoretical and historical work with critical analysis of policies and wider developments in the field of citizenship education and civic learning The book urges educators educationalists policy makers and politicians to move beyond an exclusive focus on the teaching of citizenship towards an outlook that acknowledges the ongoing processes and practices of civic learning in school and society This is not only important in order to understand the complexities of such learning It can also help to formulate more realistic expectations about what schools and other educational institutions can contribute to the promotion of democratic citizenship The book is particularly suited for students researchers and policy makers who have an interest in citizenship education civic learning and the relationships between education lifelong learning and democratic citizenship Gert Biesta www.gertbiesta.com is Professor of Education at the School of Education University of Stirling UK Teaching Learners with Visual Impairment Maximus M. Sefotho, Ronél Ferreira, 2020-12-31 This book Teaching Learners with Visual Impairment focuses on holistic support to learners with visual impairment in and beyond the classroom and school context Special attention is given to classroom practice learning support curriculum differentiation and assessment practices to mention but a few areas of focus covered in the book In this manner this book makes a significant contribution to the existing body of knowledge on the implementation of inclusive education policy with learners affected by visual impairment

Independent Power Projects in Sub-Saharan Africa Anton Eberhard, Katharine Gratwick, Elvira Morella, Pedro Antmann, 2016-04-18 Inadequate electricity services pose a major impediment to reducing extreme poverty and boosting shared prosperity in Sub Saharan Africa Simply put Africa does not have enough power Despite the abundant low carbon and low cost energy resources available to Sub Saharan Africa the region s entire installed electricity capacity at a little over 80 GW is equivalent to that of the Republic of Korea Looking ahead Sub Saharan Africa will need to ramp up its power generation capacity substantially The investment needed to meet this goal largely exceeds African countries already stretched public finances Increasing private investment is critical to help expand and improve electricity supply Historically most private sector finance has been channeled through privately financed independent power projects IPP supported by nonrecourse or limited recourse loans with long term power purchase agreements with the state utility or another off taker Between 1990 and 2014 IPPs have spread across Sub Saharan Africa and are now present in 17 countries Currently there are 125 IPPs with an overall installed capacity of 10.7 GW and investments of 24.6 billion However private investment could be much greater and less concentrated South Africa alone accounts for 67 IPPs 4.3 GW of capacity and 14.4 billion of investments the remaining projects are concentrated in a handful of countries The objective of this study is to evaluate the experience of IPPs and identify lessons that can help African countries attract more and better private investment At the core of this analysis is a reflection on whether IPPs have in fact benefited Sub Saharan Africa and how they might be improved

The analysis is based primarily on in depth case studies carried out in five countries including Kenya Nigeria South Africa Tanzania and Uganda which not only have the most numerous but also among the most extensive experience with IPPs

Nutrient Delivery Alexandru Grumezescu,2016-08-12 Nutrient Delivery Nanotechnology in the Agri Food Industry Volume Five discusses the fabrication merits demerits applications and bioavailability enhancement mechanisms of various nanodelivery systems Recent developments in various nanodelivery systems are also highlighted Volume 5 contains twenty chapters prepared by outstanding international researchers from Argentina Brazil Canada China Croatia India Iran Ireland Mexico Pakistan Portugal Serbia Sri Lanka and the United States In recent years the delivery of micronutrients at nanoscale has been widely studied as these systems have the potential to improve bioavailability enable controlled release and enhance stability of food bioactives to a greater extent The nanodelivery systems typically consist of the food bioactive compound encapsulated and stabilized in food grade ingredients such as lipids proteins or polysaccharides with diameters ranging from 10 nm to 1000 nm Among these the lipid based delivery systems such as nanoemulsions solid lipid nanoparticles nanoliposomes and micelles are widely studied for the delivery of lipophilic bioactive compounds These delivery vehicles improve the solubility permeability stability and bioavailability of the lipophilic compounds thereby enhancing their potential for oral delivery and functional food development On the other hand the hydrophilic bioactives are delivered through protein polysaccharide or biopolymer based colloidal nanosystems such as hydrogels nanogels and polymer nanoparticles The major concern other than solubility is the intestinal permeability of the micronutrients For instance the delivery system for compounds with poor intestinal permeability and low solubility need to be carefully designed using suitable lipids and surfactants Offers updated material for undergraduate and postgraduate students in food science biotechnology and related engineering fields Provides a valuable resource of recent scientific progress along with most known applications of nanomaterials in the food industry

Pollutants from Combustion Christian Vovelle,2013-11-11 This volume is based on the lectures presented at the NATO Advanced Study Institute ASI Pollutants Formation from Combustion Formation Mechanisms and Impact on the Atmospheric Chemistry held in Maratea Italy from 13 to 26 september 1998 Preservation of the environment is of increasing concern in individual countries but also at continental or world scales The structure of a NATO ASI which involve lecturers and participants of different nationalities was thought as especially well suited to address environmental issues As combustion is known to substantially contribute to the damaging of the atmosphere it was natural to concentrate the ASI program on reviewing the currently available knowledge of the formation mechanisms of the main pollutants liberated by combustion systems In most situations pollutants are present as trace components and their formation and removal is strongly conditioned by the chemical reactions initiated by fuel consumption Therefore specific lectures were aimed at defining precisely the general properties of combustion chemistry for gaseous liquid and solid fuels Physical factors can strongly affect the combustion chemistry and their influence was also considered An interesting peculiarity of this specific ASI was to complement the program with a substantial part concerned with the impact of the main combustion pollutants NOx aromatics soot VOCs sulphur and chlorinated compounds on atmospheric chemistry

Herbicides Andrew Price, Jessica Kelton, 2013-06-12 Herbicide use is a common component of many weed management strategies in both agricultural and non crop settings However herbicide use practices and recommendations are continuously updated and revised to provide control of ever changing weed compositions and to preserve efficacy of current weed control options Herbicides Current Research and Case Studies in Use provides information about current trends in herbicide use and weed control in different land and aquatic settings as well as case studies in particular weed control situations

Challenges and Issues facing the Education System in South Africa Wilfred Legotlo, 2014-05-05 The quality of education is pivotal for the production of human capital and this cannot be compromised by failing to refocus on the quality of education offered in schools The inputs in the system such as trained and motivated teachers buildings and classrooms including sanitation clean water instructional material such as textbooks as well as strong leadership with vision to steer the winds of change are important in providing the desired outcomes The chapters in this volume are broadly divided into three subsections as follows learner related issues farm and rural schools poverty and schooling school violence and students rights teacher related issues teacher morale and motivation teachers for all schools management needs of school principals and administrative policy related issues inclusive education and school community relations The social demand for better schools effective principals qualified and committed teachers and better opportunities for all place a huge challenge to provinces and the state to protect the rights of all citizens This volume sets out the challenges facing the education system in South Africa such as poor school infrastructure poor learning conditions and a lack of learning materials and provides recommendations on how some of these can be overcome
